MEPI Tomorrow's Leaders Scholarship Program

What is the MEPI Tomorrow's Leaders Scholarship Program?

The Tomorrow's Leaders Scholarship Program provides scholarships for four-year degree programs to high school students in the Middle East and North Africa who are economically disadvantaged, but who have the drive and energy to be leaders. Selected participants will attend a U.S.-accredited university in the region. The American University in Cairo (AUC), Lebanese American University (LAU), and the American University of Beirut (AUB) are the current host institutions. Scholarship recipients receive an undergraduate degree and specialized civics-based training to include a semester abroad in the U.S., as well as internship opportunities with local public, civil society, or private-sector organizations. The primary objective is to build a cadre of university-age leaders who are civic-minded, intellectually able, and professionally skilled, and who will become the community, business, and national leaders of the future. Applicants must be a high school senior or have graduated high school in 2014 and must have strong academic credentials, including proficiency in spoken and written English.

Who can apply?

The MEPI Tomorrow's Leaders Program is open to Algerian citizens who are high school seniors or who graduated from high school in 2014. Applicants should have strong academic credentials, including proficiency in written and spoken English. Test scores of the Institutional TOEFL (ITP) that is less than two years old will be used to determine eligibility. Applicants should also show maturity, flexibility and leadership potential.

When? The MEPI Tomorrow's Leaders program is usually open in October* of each year.
